

My whole family inspires me to create art. I have grown up around it my entire life. My dad is a full time artist. I always admired his career and work ethic for art. Not only does it take him a while to create a sculptor, but each sculptor has to be different. My mom is also very good at art. The rare moments she shows off her artistic side makes me want to be more and more like her and my dad. They both are my number one supporters. I am lucky enough to have parents that help me to believe in myself. Their encouragement gives me a lot of confidence. Seeing them create art makes me want to do the same thing!
